OUR MISSION:
Uniting people, ideas and resources to advance the common good.

OUR VISION:
A community united to create better opportunities for all.
Because of your belief and support of a community united, we continue to work to ensure that every child enters school ready to learn and is reading at grade level by the end of third grade; every young person graduates from high school prepared for work or college; and every individual and family has the opportunity to progress toward economic stability.
DEAR FRIENDS,

A Community United! For 127 years, Mile High United Way has stood at the crossroads of our community. This past year was no exception – through horrific floods to the raising of a new community hub – volunteers, donors, business leaders, service providers, communities of faith, school districts and policymakers united with the single vision to create better opportunities for all, and the impact was measurable.

Between July 1, 2013 and June 30, 2014, together, we served nearly 400,000 people through our Mile High United Way programs including Bridging the Gap, Colorado Reading Corps, our 2-1-1 information and referral center and in partnership with our 119 Impact Investment Partners.

United we:

• Led critical discussions regarding the educational outcomes of youth in foster care, resulting in the first-ever data sharing agreement between the Colorado Department of Education and the Colorado Department of Human Services.

• Launched The Performance Collaborative, a rigorous program that strengthens nonprofit organizations’ abilities to collect and evaluate data to improve the effectiveness of their programs.

• Built the new Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change, a mission-based community hub in the historic Curtis Park Neighborhood, without taking any funds from our community campaign.

• Opened two Centers for Family Opportunities bringing together best-in-class resources in a centralized location, each tailored to meet the specific needs of their communities.

• Looked to the future by bringing together the business, nonprofit and education communities to identify the opportunities for strengthening the connection between education and workforce.

And so much more.

Because of your belief and support of a community united, we continue to work to ensure that every child enters school ready to learn and is reading at grade level by the end of third grade; every young person graduates from high school prepared for work or college; and every individual and family has the opportunity to progress toward economic stability. And we could not be more grateful.

Please come visit us in our new home, have a great lunch in Café United and see what it means to Live United.

Warmest regards,

Christine Benero and Brian Jackson

President and CEO, Mile High United Way

2013-2014 Board Chair, Mile High United Way
TOGETHER WE CHANGE LIVES AND TRANSFORM COMMUNITIES

YOU

GIVE
Your dollars are invested in improving the lives of children, families and individuals

ADVOCATE
Help educate community and policymakers on key social issues

VOLUNTEER
Play a personal role in creating immediate and lasting change

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY

TACKLES urgent community needs through Mile High United Way programs like Bridging the Gap, 2-1-1, Colorado Reading Corps and Centers for Family Opportunity

LEADS partnerships with hundreds of nonprofits, government agencies, policymakers and businesses to collectively solve community-wide problems that one organization cannot solve alone

MAXIMIZES impact by leveraging financial and organizational support to create measurable change in our community

TOGETHER WE CREATE BETTER OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL

SCHOOL READINESS Ensuring all children are ready for school and reading at grade level by the end of third grade

YOUTH SUCCESS Helping all youth graduate from high school prepared for work or college

ADULT SELF-SUFFICIENCY Giving individuals and families the opportunity to progress toward economic stability
SCHOOL READINESS

Ensuring all children are READY FOR SCHOOL and reading at grade level by the end of third grade.

OUR IMPACT

51,874 CHILDREN WERE SERVED through Mile High United Way’s School Readiness programs and community impact partners.

20,078 PARENTS AND CAREGIVERS WERE TRAINED to be their child’s first teacher.

15,222 HOME VISITS WERE CONDUCTED to support children’s physical and mental health needs and academic achievement.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY PROGRAMS

Colorado Reading Corps

- 50 AmeriCorps members provided one-on-one tutoring, helping improve literacy scores.
- 1,296 K-3rd grade students were served in 26 schools in Jefferson County, Aurora and Adams 12 Five Star Schools.
- 93% of students in the program showed academic progress.

Social Innovation Fund

- Mile High United Way provided $1.25 million of resources, intensive support and rigorous evaluation to nine innovative early literacy programs across Colorado.
- Second year of Mile High United Way providing funding, support and rigorous evaluation.
- Nine partners delivered services to children from birth to eight years old.
- 4,888 children served improving literacy and pre-literacy skills through home visitations, training for teachers and caregivers, summer programs and tutoring.

Family, Friend & Neighbor (FFN)

- Mile High United Way supports a network of early childhood advocates – the Family, Friend & Neighbor Learning Community – working to ensure that starting from birth, children are provided the opportunities to thrive and build essential pre-literacy skills.
- 56% of children in Colorado under six years old, whose parents work, are in an informal care setting,* often in the care of their family, friends or neighbors.
- The FFN Learning Community was formed based on an identified need to provide these caregivers of young children in informal settings the opportunities to increase their access and knowledge about child development, education and resources.

YOU MADE THIS HAPPEN
Our Colorado Reading Corps children are growing and blossoming knowing they can read. They are walking taller and smiling more with the confidence.

Barbara, Mile High United Way Colorado Reading Corps member, 2012 - present

Barbara is a dedicated Mile High United Way Colorado Reading Corps member who wants to help children understand the importance of being able to read. As a retired teacher, she knows the value of reading and tells her students that reading can take them on many journeys and to places they may never have imagined. Last school year, she worked one-on-one with several K-3rd grade students at Peck Elementary to improve their literacy skills and build their confidence.
Without Bridging the Gap I never would have thought I could impact the community the way I feel like I’m doing now. I feel so empowered.

Thomas, Mile High United Way Bridging the Gap participant

Thomas aged out of the foster care system without the resources or skills he needed to support himself. He was living on the streets and frequently getting into trouble with the law. But he wanted to do more with his life. Mile High United Way’s Bridging the Gap program helped Thomas get into safe and stable housing and provided him with the support and resources he needed to go to college and attain an internship. Today he is working, in school and on the path to success.

YOUTH SUCCESS

Helping ALL YOUNG PEOPLE GRADUATE from high school prepared for work or college.

OUR IMPACT

90,831
YOUTH AND YOUNG ADULTS WERE SERVED through Mile High United Way’s Youth Success programs and community impact partners.

21,718
YOUTH WERE MENTORED and 10,087 were tutored.

168
BRIDGING THE GAP PARTICIPANTS WERE PROVIDED safe and stable housing and the support of an independent living coach to help them move toward self-sufficiency.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY

BRIDGING THE GAP

A transformative program that helps improve the lives of young adults who were formerly in foster care by addressing their needs related to education, employment, financial literacy, health and leadership development.

Independent living coaches provided life skills support and workforce development assistance to 168 young adults.

Pathway Scholarship Program

Provides young adults wrap-around services and support to ensure their academic success.

28 Mile High United Way Pathway Scholars received college scholarships and academic advising.

Academic advising provided by partner institutions, including: Community College of Aurora, Community College of Denver and Metro State University.

Each student received one-on-one coaching through a Mile High United Way post-secondary Pathway program manager.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY PROGRAMS

Individual Development Accounts (IDA)
Matched savings program designed to help low-income individuals and families build financial assets to purchase a home, start or grow a small business or pay for college tuition or vocational education.

252 participants had an active IDA.

26 individuals purchased a home, 35 started or expanded a small business and 49 used IDAs to pursue post-secondary education.

Mile High United Way launched two Centers for Family Opportunity located at College View Elementary in Southwest Denver and at the Mountain Resource Center in Conifer.

The Centers were designed based on a proven national integrated services model of bringing together best-in-their-field resources in a centralized location including English-language and GED classes, tax preparation, financial coaching, workforce and employment services, legal assistance, utility assistance, veteran services and more.

In the inaugural year, the Centers worked intensively with a small group of families to help support many of their needs and get them on a path to economic stability.

Thank you Mile High United Way for not only giving me my name back, but giving me self-purpose and the will to want to live and be a good person and help others.

Michael, former homeless veteran

Michael, an Air Force veteran, was living on the streets for 20 years. He was addicted to alcohol and known only by the name “Alabama.” He had lost all hope until Mile High United Way connected him to services that helped him get sober and back on his feet. Today, he has safe and stable housing and is working to help other military vets deal with addiction and mental illness.
CORPORATE VOLUNTEERISM

Mile High United Way is committed to engaging businesses to make an impact in our community through corporate volunteerism. We offer a variety of customized opportunities from a company-wide day of service or adopting a classroom helping improve children’s literacy skills to sharing their time and talent with nonprofits in need. Mile High United Way engaged more than 75 companies in 124 Days of Service, including projects like cleaning up parks, painting houses and packing meals at a food bank.

Power Lunch

- 345 volunteers read to elementary school students once a week at nine schools.
- 11 companies adopted a classroom, serving 245 students.
- 4,314 volunteer reading hours were completed.

Tutor Mate

- 150 volunteers read with elementary students through telephone and webcam.
- Nine companies participated, serving 140 students.
- More than 1,500 volunteer reading hours were completed.

To find or post volunteer opportunities, visit our Get Connected website at: Volunteer.UnitedWayDenver.org

School Partners Program

A collaboration between Mile High United Way, Denver Public Schools Foundation and Denver Public Schools (DPS) that creates tailor-made partnerships between schools and business and community organizations to help every DPS student succeed.

Through School Partners, 54 companies engaged with schools providing a combination of volunteer time, in-kind contributions and financial resources to meet the specific needs of their partner school.
COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Mile High United Way 40th Annual Turkey Trot

Nearly 10,000 runners started their Thanksgiving by participating in the 40th annual Turkey Trot in Denver’s Washington Park. The four-mile race raised $450,000 to support Mile High United Way’s community impact initiatives that focus on School Readiness, Youth Success and Adult Self-Sufficiency.

15th Annual Women United Luncheon

Women United inspires, enables and motivates women to become agents of change in our community through philanthropy, leadership and volunteerism. The featured speaker was writer, performer and artist Anna Deavere Smith who shared her revelatory and intriguing “snapshots” of change in our world and in our American communities. Last year, the luncheon grossed $220,000 to support Mile High United Way’s work in the community.

Roxane White was honored with the Frances Wisebart Jacobs award, representing her philanthropic spirit and commitment to the community.

Project Homeless Connect

Every year, Mile High United Way partners with Denver’s Road Home to host Project Homeless Connect. This one-day, one-stop intensive offering of programs and services provides vital help and information to homeless individuals, as well as people who are at risk of becoming homeless. Annually, the event benefits more than 1,500 individuals and relies on the service and time of more than 1,000 volunteers.

Super Bowl Surprise

Mile High United Way and United Airlines surprised 4th grader and super reader Mario and his mother with a trip to see the Broncos play in the Super Bowl. With the support of Mile High United Way and his Power Lunch reading buddies Deena Mata and Taylor Vitale, he has become a top reader at College View Elementary.
WHEN A BUILDING IS MORE THAN A BUILDING

The new Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change is a mission-based community hub in the historic Curtis Park neighborhood of Denver. The 63,000 square foot building includes:

- CoBank Leadership Center: 6,300 square feet of conference space for community collaboration, available at no cost for nonprofit organizations.

- CenturyLink’s Mile High United Way 2-1-1 Center: housing a free and confidential community referral service that connects callers and walk-ins with resources that provide food, shelter, rent assistance, clothing, child care options, legal assistance and other services to meet basic needs.

- Bridging the Gap: Mile High United Way’s program helping young adults formerly in foster care address their needs related to education, employment, financial literacy, health and leadership development.

- Comcast Digital Literacy Community Center: giving local citizens and nonprofit organizations access to state-of-the-art technology and free training opportunities.

- Café United: a social change kitchen operated by Work Options for Women.

- Offices for Goodwill Industries and the Metro Denver Homeless Initiative.

Topping off beam for Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change.
The new headquarters is so much more than a building. It's a community asset – a long-term investment in the redevelopment of this unique area and in our ability to continue to partner with the Denver community to improve the lives of children, families and individuals.

Christine Benero, President and CEO of Mile High United Way

All funds needed to complete the project were raised separately from our community campaign, which directly supports Mile High United Way’s work in the Metro Denver area.

Community Investment

Workforce giving campaigns continue to raise the most funds, with 800 corporations and their employees contributing more than $28M. $1.8M was raised by our community to help victims of the devastating floods in September 2013.

As of June 30, 2014 the Capital Campaign raised $4.3M separately from the community campaign, and is for the construction and operation of the new Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change.
A Community Committed to LIVE UNITED

A united community transforms lives. Support from the community allows us to deliver direct services, invest in programs, conduct research and evaluation, enable volunteerism and encourage philanthropy.

When you LIVE UNITED, you join together with thousands of others to form a powerful movement making a lasting difference in people’s lives. Mile High United Way was built on the belief that together we can accomplish more than any individual or organization can alone.

By engaging in rigorous evaluation of internal programs and external partners, we ensure that we only invest in programs and partners with proof of performance.

Our Investment in the Community

Mile High United Way Programs and Technical Assistance

- Mile High United Way Bridging the Gap
- Mile High United Way 2-1-1 Information and Referral

- Mile High United Way Colorado Reading Corps
- Mile High United Way Individual Development Accounts
- Mile High United Way Centers for Family Opportunity
- The Performance Collaborative: Technical and programmatic support to direct service organizations including evaluation assistance (data collection, tracking and analysis), advocacy, program quality and improvement and professional development.

Community Collaboration and Impact Investment Grants

Mile High United Way invests in 119 Impact Investment Partners and numerous other organizations working in the areas of School Readiness, Youth Success and Adult Self-Sufficiency.

Nine local nonprofits are receiving funding and support through the Mile High United Way Social Innovation Fund.

Designations to other Nonprofit Agencies

Mile High United Way believes in the power of promoting philanthropy as a whole and is proud to fulfill donor designations to other 501(c)(3) agencies.

Last year, we distributed designated funds to more than 4,000 agencies across the United States, providing charitable support to more than 1,000 communities.

Mile High United Way verifies that each agency is eligible to receive charitable donations and acknowledges compliance with the USA Patriot Act and other counterterrorism laws.

The audited financial statement for the period ending June 30, 2014 and the tax return form 990 are available for your review on our website at www.unitedwaydenver.org.
