A COMMUNITY UNITED

Dear Friends,

This year marked a milestone in our work to create opportunities for everyone in our community: a return to Curtis Park, where our founders began growing the United Way movement more than 128 years ago.

On September 29, 2014, we began working from the Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change. We dreamed of a building that was more than a building, and since then, our dream has become a reality. Today, the Morgridge Center for Community Change is truly a mission-driven community hub.

Within our walls, youth find their path to education and work; thousands of people connect with essential resources to meet their basic needs; women learn workforce skills to secure viable long-term employment; and nonprofits, educators, policymakers, and business leaders unite to address our community’s most pressing issues.

Thanks to donors like you and our community partners, Mile High United Way impacted nearly 350,000 people around Metro Denver. We led and invested in programs to ensure that children, youth, and individuals have the opportunities they need to thrive. We advanced legislation to remove unnecessary barriers to success, and our volunteers donated more than 140,000 hours of their time.

We also began identifying Metro Denver communities that have a great need for support, and in the coming year, we will launch United Neighborhoods. This is our neighborhood-based approach to collectively address community needs through resident engagement and alignment of existing resources that improve access to programs and services.

Without your support, none of this would be possible.

Please come visit us to see your investment in action; enjoy lunch in Café United; and see what it means to LIVE UNITED.

Warm regards,

Christine Benero
President and CEO, Mile High United Way

David Eves
Board Chair, Mile High United Way
President and CEO, PSCo, an Xcel Energy Company
Thank You For Helping Us Create Opportunity For Everyone In Our Community

Mile High United Way is committed to building opportunities that allow everyone in our community to thrive. This commitment has driven us to engage the community to better serve everyone in Metro Denver – this means enabling people to walk in for 2-1-1 Help Center support, offering work space for people to collaborate, finding solutions to problems no one organization alone can solve, and so much more.

As a community united, with the support and generosity of donors like you, we impacted nearly 350,000 people, including more than 61,000 families last year. Thank you.

A Look Ahead

This year our Board and staff were highly focused on refining our strategies to provide opportunities for everyone in our community. With your support we are working to ensure:

- Children enter school ready to succeed
- Children are reading at or above grade level by the end of third grade
- Youth graduate from high school ready for post-secondary education and entry into the workforce
- Individuals and families have their basic needs met and are afforded every opportunity to move toward economic success
A COMMUNITY UNITED
FROM PAST TO PRESENT

BACK TO OUR ROOTS

We have come home to the historic Curtis Park neighborhood, where Mile High United Way started working to advance the common good more than 128 years ago.

A COMMUNITY HUB

The Morgridge Center for Community Change is a welcoming place where thousands of people are connected with essential resources to meet their most basic needs; where youth leaving the child welfare system receive help to get them on their path to independence; where women learn workforce skills to secure viable and long-term employment; and where nonprofits, government agencies and businesses come together to collectively solve community-wide challenges that one organization cannot solve alone.

REFLECTING HISTORIC NEIGHBORHOOD CHARACTER

Curtis Park is a neighborhood rich in history and community. Our building is comprised of a light masonry brick sourced from a 100-mile radius that emulates the brick used in nearby Ebert Elementary School, reflecting the neighborhood character.

THOUGHTFUL DESIGN

Unique design elements bring warmth and a contemporary feel to the building. Pigmented zinc panels and blue curtain glass walls promote transparency, while iconic elements such as bay windows and glass boxes anchor the building’s corners and help create an architectural identity.

A COMMUNITY UNITED THROUGH THE MORGRIDGE CENTER FOR COMMUNITY CHANGE

The Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change lives at the intersection of the private, public, philanthropic, and nonprofit sectors. Inside our walls, we bring people together to solve community-wide problems no one organization can solve alone.

In 2014-2015 the Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change received tremendous community-wide recognition. We are so grateful.

BUILDING USE BY THE NUMBERS

From September 29, 2014 through June 30, 2015

When the Mile High United Way Morgridge Center for Community Change opened its doors on September 29, 2014, we envisioned a place that would bring people together to solve our community’s most pressing issues. We envisioned a space that would transform the way we approach our work to solve complex social problems. We are pleased to report that our building vision has come true.

A COMMUNITY UNITED TO GIVE CHILDREN A STRONG START

SCHOOL READINESS
HELPING CHILDREN ENTER SCHOOL READY TO SUCCEED, AND READ AT OR ABOVE GRADE LEVEL BY THE END OF THIRD GRADE.

OUR IMPACT

32,240
CHILDREN WERE SERVED
through programs that encourage early literacy development and build kindergarten readiness skills to ensure that every child enters school ready to learn.

11,006
PARENTS AND CAREGIVERS WERE TRAINED to support their children’s learning as well as their physical and emotional health needs.

14,084
HOME VISITS WERE CONDUCTED
to reach families so they are well equipped to be their child’s first teachers.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY PROGRAMS

Colorado Reading Corps

Mile High United Way’s Colorado Reading Corps services are delivered by 50 AmeriCorps members who provide one-on-one tutoring to help improve literacy scores. Last year, Colorado Reading Corps members tutored 1,282 students, and 94.3% of students served showed academic progress.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY INNOVATION AND LEARNING

Social Innovation Fund

In its third year, the Mile High United Way Social Innovation Fund provides support and rigorous evaluation to nonprofits that serve nearly 4,000 children with high-quality early literacy services. Early evaluations suggest positive results in summer programming, parent and family engagement, and training of Family, Friend and Neighbor (FFN) caregivers.

Family, Friend and Neighbor (FFN) Care

Mile High United Way recognizes that approximately 134,000* Colorado children under age 6 spend time in the care of family, friends, or neighbors before entering school. By leading the statewide Family, Friend, and Neighbor Learning Community, we are bringing together advocates and service providers to support caregivers and the children in their care. Our involvement encourages caregiver training, outreach and communication, policy, early literacy development, and helps ensure every child enters school ready to succeed.

YOU MADE THIS HAPPEN

*2014 KidsCount in Colorado Report
With help from Mile High United Way, Emily was able to find a high-quality preschool for her daughter to attend, which will help ensure that her daughter enters kindergarten ready to succeed.
Through Mile High United Way, Canaan received financial support to attend college, one-on-one coaching and academic advising. He was on the right track as he entered his freshman year at the Community College of Denver, and over the next six years, Mile High United Way not only helped Canaan graduate, we also provided the guidance he needed to attain his dream of becoming a police officer to give back to his community.
MILE HIGH UNITED WAY PROGRAMS

Bridging the Gap

Mile High United Way’s Bridging the Gap improves the lives of young adults who were formerly in the child welfare system by providing support for housing, education, employment, financial literacy, health, and leadership development. Last year, 160 participants were provided safe and stable housing and support. Independent Living Coaches also provided life skills support and workforce development assistance.

Mile High United Way Pathway Scholarship Program

The Mile High United Way Pathway Scholarship program assists African-American students from Metro Denver to realize the dream of obtaining a college degree through financial assistance, and personal and academic support.

Of the 24 Pathway Scholars enrolled, 7 were awarded degrees over the past calendar year.

The remaining Scholars continue to pursue their post-secondary degrees and are on track to graduate by June 2017.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY INNOVATION AND LEARNING

The Mile High United Way Performance Collaborative

The Performance Collaborative helps nonprofits gather and evaluate program data to help them increase their impact in our community. Five youth-development nonprofits are currently in the first year of this two-year process. With intensive coaching and support from the Mile High United Way Evaluation team, these organizations are becoming more clear about the change they are working to achieve. In the second year, these organizations will begin to implement new evaluation tools and learn how to use data for continuous quality improvement.
A COMMUNITY UNITED TO ENSURE FAMILIES AND INDIVIDUALS ARE FINANCIALLY STABLE

ADULT SELF-SUFFICIENCY
GIVING INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES THE OPPORTUNITY TO PROGRESS TOWARD ECONOMIC SELF-SUFFICIENCY

OUR IMPACT

113,074
PEOPLE SERVED
by programs that ensure individuals have every opportunity to become economically self-sufficient.

427,106
SHELTER NIGHTS PROVIDED for individuals and families experiencing homelessness.

1,385,454
MEALS PROVIDED
to individuals and families experiencing hunger and food insecurity.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY PROGRAMS

2-1-1 Help Center
Free and confidential community help center that connects individuals with resources that provide food, shelter, rental assistance, clothing, child care options, legal assistance, and other services. Last year, 2-1-1 received nearly 80,000 contacts from individuals seeking help with basic needs.

Mile High United Way Individual Development Accounts
Last year, Mile High United Way Individual Development Accounts helped 141 low-income individuals and families build financial assets to purchase a home, start or grow a small business, or pay for education costs.

T4T – Teaming for Technology Colorado
T4T is rooted in the idea that nonprofit organizations can more efficiently serve their constituents when they possess the skills to efficiently use technology. Last year, T4T offered 125 classes that served 826 people representing 120 organizations around Metro Denver.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY INNOVATION AND LEARNING

Centers for Family Opportunity
Mile High United Way Centers for Family Opportunity are designed to foster economic self-sufficiency for families by delivering multiple services from a single location. Through our Centers at College View Elementary in Denver and Mountain Resource Center in Conifer, nearly 650 participants received services to increase income, reduce debt, and improve credit scores.

YOU MADE THIS HAPPEN
Leticia has taken advantage of every class and workshop offered at Mile High United Way’s Center for Family Opportunity, including English language skills, GED preparation classes, computer skills, and financial empowerment coaching. In fact, she is the first client planning to take her GED test.
A COMMUNITY UNITED THROUGH VOLUNTEERING

Last year, Mile High United Way volunteers gave more than 140,000 hours to improve our community. By reading with children, tutoring, serving meals, career mentoring, hosting supply drives, and participating in hundreds of days of service at Mile High United Way events and local nonprofits, volunteers ensure children, youth, and adults in our community are thriving.

CORPORATE DAYS OF SERVICE

Corporate Days of Service are customized opportunities for Mile High United Way corporate partners to invest in the local community through volunteerism. In the past year, Mile High United Way coordinated 221 days of service in the local community, engaging 115 companies and their employees. To work with Mile High United Way to develop a customized volunteer plan for your company, email volunteer@unitedwaydenver.org

SCHOOL PARTNERS PROGRAM

The School Partners Program is a collaboration between Mile High United Way, Denver Public Schools Foundation, and Denver Public Schools, that mobilizes volunteers to help students develop a love of reading and strengthen reading skills. Last year, 742 volunteers from 12 companies read over 4,000 hours through the Power Lunch program and nearly 3,000 hours through the TutorMate program, serving nearly 500 Denver Public Schools students.

MILE HIGH UNITED WAY VOLUNTEER EVENTS

Mile High United Way’s annual volunteer events, such as Project Homeless Connect, Children’s Holiday Party, and Bridging the Gap Career Week, unite the community around our most pressing needs. Last year, 2,366 volunteers at Mile High United Way joined us at our events.

VOLUNTEER WITH US

To find or post volunteer opportunities, visit volunteer.unitedwaydenver.org. To learn more about any of Mile High United Way’s volunteer programs, please email volunteer@unitedwaydenver.org.

Each week, Power Lunch volunteers spend 45 minutes with a reading buddy to help them develop a love of books, improve their literacy skills, and build their reading confidence.
A COMMUNITY UNITED THROUGH ADVOCACY

To create long-term systemic change improving the lives of children, families, and individuals, Mile High United Way works together with both the nonprofit and private sectors to educate the public and policymakers on the issues of School Readiness, Youth Success, and Adult Self-Sufficiency. We believe that real, sustainable community improvement requires changes in public policy.

During the 2015 session of the Colorado General Assembly, Mile High United Way advocated for legislation that removed barriers and created pathways to success for children, youth, and adults. Legislation that became law with the support of Mile High United Way and our community partners included:

* A bipartisan package related to workforce development aimed at creating pathways to careers in IT and STEM fields (House Bill 15-1270 and House Bill 15-1274)

* A bill that allows for the creation of Pay for Success contracts in fields like early childhood education (House Bill 15-1317)

* A bill that allows those on public assistance programs, like Temporary Aid for Needy Families, to keep child support payments that were previously kept by state and local government (Senate Bill 12)

On February 17, 2015, the Colorado United Way network hosted its annual Day on the Hill at the State Capitol. The network heard from Lieutenant Governor Joe Garcia, experts on early childhood education, and also learned about the child welfare hotline, READ Act, and Colorado’s Homeless Initiative.
A COMMUNITY UNITED THROUGH ENGAGEMENT

From fundraising to networking and educational events, Mile High United Way hosted a wide range of engagement opportunities last year.

Women United Luncheon

The Annual Women United Luncheon inspires, enables, and motivates women to become agents of change in our community through philanthropy, leadership, and volunteerism. On October 30, 2014, the 16th annual event featured Will Schwalbe, whose book, The End of Your Life Book Club focused on his mother’s story, which illustrates how powerful even the smallest of connections can be in making a difference. The 1,000-person luncheon raised more than $300,000 to support children, adults, and families in the community.

Mile High United Way Turkey Trot

On November 28, 2014, nearly 10,000 runners started their Thanksgiving Day by participating in the 41st Annual Turkey Trot in Denver’s Washington Park. The four-mile race was named one of the Top 10 Turkey Trots in the country by Shape magazine, and the event raised $475,000 to support children, youth, and families in the community.
Mile High United Way GradNation Summit

The May 7, 2015 GradNation Workforce Summit engaged 60 local businesses, 6 Metro Denver-area school districts, as well as government and nonprofit organizations to increase school-to-work pathways including internships, job shadow opportunities, and mentoring. Local high school students also displayed their STEM projects at the Mile High United Way GradNation Summit.

Philanthropy Summit

On May 29, 2015, Mile High United Way hosted an inspirational day with business and nonprofit leaders to explore how personal resources can have a great impact on our community’s unique challenges. The Summit included lunch with keynote speaker Nancy Lublin, founder of Dress for Success and CEO of DoSomething.org. More than 350 community members attended the event to learn how their involvement with Mile High United Way can support children, adults, and families in the community.
Annual fundraising, including workplace campaigns with more than 800 companies and their employees, raised more than $27M last year. Contributions to Mile High United Way are invested in the community through programs, services, and impact partners that show proven results. We envision a community where people thrive, and believe great things happen when we LIVE UNITED.
85% Invested Back Into the Community

Mile High United Way values its fiduciary responsibility to donors, funders and the larger community and strives to operate as efficiently as possible. Last year, 85 cents of every dollar spent was for programs, which far surpasses the Better Business Bureau standard of 65 cents.

53% Mile High United Way Programs, Community Collaboration, and Impact Investment Grants - $17.7M

32% Donor Designations to Nonprofit Agencies - $10.8M

15% Fund Development and Administration - $5.0M

Our Investment in the Community

Mile High United Way creates opportunities in our community through a portfolio of investments in direct service programs, community impact grants, and designations to other nonprofits. We continually evaluate the strengths and capabilities of our programs to ensure that our work creates lasting community impact.

Community Collaboration and Impact Investment Grants

Mile High United Way invested in 112 Impact Investment Partners working in the areas of School Readiness, Youth Success, and Adult Self-Sufficiency.

The Mile High United Way Social Innovation Fund is currently working with seven partners.

Funds Development and Administration

Raising $7 for every $1 spent.

Vetting nonprofits for IRS eligibility to protect community investments.

Organizational stewardship and compliance, including annual independent audit.

Designations to Other Nonprofits

Mile High United Way believes in the power of promoting philanthropy as a whole and is proud to fulfill donor designations to other 501(c)(3) agencies.

Last year, we distributed designated funds to 5,000 agencies across the United States, providing charitable support to communities across the country.

Mile High United Way verifies that each agency is eligible to receive charitable donations and acknowledges compliance with the USA Patriot Act and other compliance requirements.

Mile High United Way Emerging Leaders Council
Women United is a community of women giving to Mile High United Way at or above the Leadership level ($1,000 or more each year). Their mission is to inspire, educate, and motivate women to become agents of change in our community through philanthropy, leadership, and volunteerism. Alliance members meet regularly to plan volunteer opportunities and special events, including our annual Women United Luncheon, that are open to the greater Women United network.
